

Wednesday 27th June 2018, RCSI, 26 York Street, Dublin 2

Innovation Day 2018 @ RCSI Library provides you with an opportunity to learn about how RCSI Library, through online and onsite services, is supporting the research, clinical, learning and teaching activities in the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland.

Learn more about how the uniqueness of our parent organization, as a specialist health sciences university and accrediting body for surgeons in Ireland, influences and shapes the services we provide. Participants will hear from the RCSI Library team about digitisation of heritage collections, clinical services, research support and our online and onsite service developments. Participants will have an opportunity to tour our new library facilities at RCSI, 26 York Street.

Programme

10:15 – 11:00	Registration, Lobby, RCSI, 26 York Street Refreshments, Level 3 Concourse, 26 York Street
11:00 – 11:20	Welcome and introduction to the RCSI Library team Kate Kelly, Director of Library Services
11:20 – 11:40	Library Space Design @ 26 York Street Kathryn Smith, Associate Librarian, Librarian Services Delivery
11:40 – 12:00	Library User Engagement & Outreach Johanna Archbold, Customer Service & Communications Coordinator
12:00 – 13:00	Tour of RCSI 26 York Street
13:00 – 14:00	Lunch, Level 3 concourse, 26 York Street
14:00 – 14:20	Digitising RCSI's Heritage Collections Susan Leyden, College Archivist
14:20 – 14:40	Clinical Support & Engagement Breffni Smith, Clinical Librarian & Paul Murphy, Information Specialist
14:40 – 14:50	Bibliometrics @ RCSI Grainne McCabe, Scholarly Communications & Research Support Officer
14.50 – 15.00	Aligning teaching sessions and materials across campuses Lorna Flannery, Teaching & Learning Support Librarian
15:00 – 15:20	Evaluation & Close